

National Archive Records For: AKC's Versatile Companion Dog Titles (VCD)

To date, Two (2) Saint Bernards have earned the coveted AKC Versatile Companion Dog Title. 1 of those VCDs has also earned a breed championship—the pinnacle!

VCD Title Requirements

The Versatile Companion Dog titles were created to reward owners of all breeds who compete in Obedience, Agility and Tracking events. Dogs and their owners have truly enjoyed this unique opportunity to showcase their tremendous talent in so many areas.

Effective January 1, 2001, The American Kennel Club will permit the use of the letters following the name of each registered dog that completes titles as follows:

To achieve the VCD1, a dog must have a CD, NA, NAJ or NAP, NJP and TD.

The VCD2 requires a CDX, OA, OAJ or OAP, OJP and TD.

The VCD3 requires a UD, AX, AXJ or AXP, AJP and TDX.

For the VCD4, a UDX, MX, MXJ or MXP, MJP, and VST must be achieved.

The very prestigious Versatile Companion Champion title (VCCH) will be placed before the dogs name and will proclaim the dog has accomplished the Obedience Trial Champion (OTCH), the Master Agility Champion (MACH) and the Champion Tracker (CT).
